

What Are Clients Have to Say

To potential seller/buyer in Seattle area,

I am writing this letter to highly recommend Steve Laevastu as your real estate agent. My wife and I just sold our house in the View Ridge area last October, which we consider would be impossible if without Steve's help.

We started our selling process by interviewing three agents – all with excellent track records. Among them, Steve was outstanding in two ways: he has a team and can put contractors in immediate repair work (which is very important for an old house); Also, he is so confident about his service that he guarantees that we can stop working with him if we are not 100% satisfied with him.

We decided to ask Steve to help us sell our house. As you know, the housing market is not as good as even a year ago. Only one week after we put our house on the market, there was another house right over the corner that was listed at an extremely low price. At such a difficult time, Steve discussed with us possible strategies based on his years of experience. We have this strong feeling that he really thinks and acts as if he is selling his own house, and we highly appreciate his suggestions along the way.

Then we got an offer, only one offer and at a very low price. Steve stayed calm and rational, which helped us a lot in the negotiating process. At the end, we sold our house at a reasonable price. However, even if we did not sell the house at that time, we would still use Steve as our agent – we are comfortable working with Steve, and we believe that he is trying his best to help us.

Overall, we consider that Steve is an honest, professional and dedicated person, and we will highly recommend him to potential home sellers/buyers.

Sincerely yours,
Bin Li

Service that exceeds normal expectations, that was our experience with Roger.

We had listed our house and purchased our new house within days of each other and would be moving with no potential buyer(s) in sight. We were facing two mortgages and a loan from a retirement plan.

After explaining to a friend of mine that our house was on the market about four weeks with no activity (one brokers open and one public open during which not even one agent or buyer showed up to either) he suggested that we call Roger.

After rescinding the listing with our current agent and listing with Roger, we accepted an offer within two weeks.

Roger did all the right things to give the house lots of positive exposure and it worked. Thank you Roger!

Sincerely,
Peter and Moira Tueffers

INTERIM TREE PROTECTION MEASURES TAKE EFFECT APRIL 1ST. LIMITS SET IN SEATTLE FOR REMOVING

TREES ON SITES NOT UNDERGOING DEVELOPMENT

SEATTLE — Starting April 1, the following limits will apply to all commercial, low-rise, and mid-rise zones, and single family zoned lots 5,000 square feet or greater:

- No exceptional trees may be removed except where allowed as part of an approved development permit or when the tree is found to be a hazard. Exceptional trees are particularly old or large trees and provide substantially greater benefits than smaller trees. These trees are defined in the Department of Planning and Development (DPD) Director's Rule (DR) 16-2008.
- No more than three non-exceptional trees six inches or greater in diameter may be removed on a lot within any 12-month period except when associated with a development permit or when the tree is found to be a hazard.

No new permits will be required for tree removal. However, individuals violating the above standards may be subject to fines and replanting requirements. Proposals to remove trees in conjunction with development will be reviewed as part of Master Use or building permits and will be subject to the existing requirements of the Tree Protection ordinance, Seattle Municipal Code 25.11.

Tree removal in Environmentally Critical Areas (ECA) is subject to separate rules and requires prior approval from DPD.

If you are planning to remove trees on your property, it is recommended that you consult a tree care professional to determine if a tree is exceptional or if there are any tree hazard or health issues that might require removal.

SOLD HOMES

The following is a list of homes that sold in our Maple Leaf Neighborhood over the last month. Do you wonder what your house is worth? The décor, the features and condition all have a bearing on the price a house will command. We have seen the interiors of most of the homes in this list. If you are selling your home, please let us help you. We would be happy to view your home, prepare a market analysis and discuss the details with you. We can provide you with useful information, such as a sales price that might be realistically expected in today's market.

WALDO SANITARIUM OPENS IN SEATTLE'S MAPLE LEAF NEIGHBORHOOD
ON OCTOBER 5, 1924.

On October 5, 1924, osteopathic physician Dr. William Earl Waldo (1885-1962) opens the Waldo Sanitarium at 8511 15th Avenue NE in Seattle's Maple Leaf neighborhood, immediately outside Seattle's city limits. Designed by Seattle architect Paul Richardson (1888-1939), the building overlooks the Maple Leaf reservoir with territorial views of the Olympic and Cascade Mountains and downtown Seattle.

Osteopathic physicians view the body as a whole, with particular emphasis on the musculoskeletal system. Osteopathic practice in Washington was legalized on March 18, 1909, but at the time Waldo Sanitarium opened none of the hospitals in Seattle would grant osteopathic physicians privileges to admit patients. At the time the Waldo Sanitarium was being planned and constructed there was some public controversy over whether it could legally be built so close to an open reservoir.

provide a place where osteopathy, conservative surgery, medicine, hydro and electric therapy and diet can be practiced under ideal surroundings" ("New Sanitarium Opens Today -- Most Modern Features Found").

Waldo Sanitarium was certified to train interns beginning in 1927. In 1937 Dr. Waldo reorganized the Waldo Sanatorium as a nonprofit facility, renaming it the Waldo General Hospital. In 1959 a major addition, designed by the firm of Naramore, Bain, Brady, and Johnson (NBBJ), was added to the building's north side. Waldo Hospital granted practice privileges to osteopathic, naturopathic, and allopathic physicians. A 1960 article in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer described Waldo Hospital as "a million-dollar institution ... with a staff of 60" ("Living Builders of Seattle: Dr. Waldo's Dream Came True").

DR. WILLIAM EARL WALDO

One of a family of 13 children, William Waldo was born in Muncie, Indiana, in on July 25, 1885. After receiving his degree from the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery in Kirksville, Missouri, Dr. Waldo moved to Seattle in 1910. He practiced first in Columbia City, and then in downtown Seattle. From 1918 to 1929, he saw patients from an office in the Joshua Green Building.

Dr. Waldo, a leading member of numerous civic organizations including the Seattle Rotary and the Municipal League, provided free medical services to student athletes at Queen Anne, West Seattle, and Broadway High Schools. He served as team physician to the University of Washington football team

IDEAL SURROUNDINGS

Dr. Waldo described his venture in an article in The Seattle Times at the time the Waldo Sanatorium opened:

"Our aim is not to conduct a hospital, although provision is made for surgery, but rather a place where patients can have rest, diet and quiet. Diet is stressed at all times and we strive to teach people how to live so that they may avoid many of the ills that flesh is heir to. We do not take contagious cases or those with mental ailments, nor do we take drug addicts. It has been our aim to and the Seattle Indians Baseball Club. Dr. Waldo also served terms as president the King County Osteopathic Association, the Washington State Osteopathic Associations, and the American Osteopathic Association, of which he was a founder. A 1961 profile of Dr. Waldo in The Seattle Times noted that in his career he had delivered 2,403 babies in Seattle. He died on November 11, 1962, at Waldo Hospital.

LIFE AFTER WALDO

Shortly after Dr. Waldo's death the Waldo Hospital was relocated to a newer building near Northgate Mall. The hospital closed in 1985. In late 1968, Camp Fire USA of Central Puget Sound purchased the 15th Avenue NE building, using it as the organization's headquarters until 2006 when Prescott Development negotiated an option to purchase the 1.6-acre property. Included on the property was a grove of approximately 75 trees, mostly Douglas fir, serving as an urban forest and habitat for eagles.

On March 8, 2007, the Maple Leaf Community Council, endorsed by the Sierra Club and the Seattle Audubon Society, petitioned the Seattle Landmarks Preservation board to designate the Waldo Hospital and its landscaped site a City of Seattle Landmark. On June 20, 2007, following significant community debate, expert testimony, and public comment from speakers such as Dr. Waldo's granddaughter Nancy Waldo Smith and former Washington governor Gary Locke (both against landmark status) and passionate Maple Leaf residents bolstered by Washington Trust for Historic Preservation president Chris Moore (in support of landmark status), the Seattle Landmarks Preservation Board voted to deny Waldo Hospital landmark status.

On June 22, 2007, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer announced that developers had applied to the city of Seattle for permission to demolish Waldo Hospital and build 40 homes and townhomes.
